LAST BATTLE
FOR OKINAWA
NEARING ENDCOMPLETE VICTORY
WITHIN WEEK
PREDICTED

BY LEIF ERIKSSON

Guam, Saturday, June 16 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., predicted today that the 77-day-old Okinawa campaign will be wound up by his advancing 10th Army within a week.

He expressed the belief as his divisions, tearing to pieces the last stand line of the Japanese at the southern tip of Yaeju escarpment, overrun a fourth of its plateau area.

A fleet communique today reported that Maj. Gen. James L. Bradley's 96th Division, which captured 500-foot-high Yaeju peak Thursday, overrun several hundred yards in the plateau's center yesterday. Tanks and flamethrowers led the way.

At the same time, Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold's Seventh In-

BALIKPAPAN NEXT

San Francisco, June 15 (AP)—The American Broadcasting Company (Blue network) intercepted a Tokyo report tonight that an Allied fleet is approaching the rich oil refinery center of Balikpapan, on the east central coast of Borneo.

The enemy radio said three battleships, a seaplane carrier, 16 destroyers and "other warships" comprised the armada. Invasion forces of Australians, backed by the U. S. Seventh Fleet, already have secured Tarakan Island off the northeast coast above Balikpapan and a segment of the Brunei Bay area on the northwest side.

The latest communique of Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported a strike by more than 50 Liberators of the 13th (Jungle Fighting) Air Force at Balikpapan. They encountered heavy anti-aircraft opposition.

fantry division, curling in the eastern arm of a pincers behind the escarpment, moved ahead 700 yards through Japanese strong-points.

Marines Take Prisoners

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said the 10th Army, irresistibly tearing to pieces the enemy's last stand positions despite the rugged terrain, brought heavy pressure on the center and eastern flanks.

On the west, where the First Marine Division seized Kunishi ridge, Japanese opposition held up the leathernecks, who strengthened their positions under heavy fire from Yuza hill.

Winding up their victory on Oroku peninsula, the Sixth Marine Division devilsdorks 145 Japanese prisoners yesterday.

For the third straight day, Admiral Nimitz reported a complete absence of the enemy aircraft suicide attacks which had hitherto been so persistent.

The Japanese—already quitting the hopeless fight by the hundreds—were raked today by ceaseless fire from naval guns, bombs and artillery as the Americans strove to sweep them from Yaeju plateau and complete the subjugation of Okinawa.

Driven from Yaeju peak, the island's highest, in a one-hour onslaught after flame-throwing tanks set the whole hill ablaze, the enemy clung stubbornly to

CARRIER SARATOGA SURVIVES — After escaping enemy bombs through 39 months of strenuous combat duty, the good fortune of the U.S.S. Saratoga expired on February 21 in operations off Iwo Jima. Firefighting squads are shown battling to extinguish the flames after the Japanese attacks. Despite seven direct hits the dauntless carrier was able to make her way to Puget Sound Navy Yard, Bremerton, Wash., under her own power—another saga of American seamanship to rival that of the unsinkable Franklin. She is already back in action, ready for revenge on the Japs. (NEA Telephoto from Navy.)

TRAIN COLLISION
IS FATAL TO 18Thirty Others Injured As Freight Gets Into Path Of Express

Milton, Pa., June 15 (AP)—Eighteen were killed and 30 injured in a nightmarish collision early today between the Dominion Express and a freight train thrown into its path by a broken journal.

(Eight members of a section gang were killed by the New York Central Water Level Limited a few hours later near Amsterdam, N. Y.)

The 14-car Washington-to-Buffalo Express thundered at 55 miles an hour into the 34th car of the freight train, proceeding in the opposite direction along a parallel track, with a crash a soldier described as "louder than anything I heard on European battlefronts."

No warning was possible as the locomotive ploughed into the freight car, knocking 20 other freight cars from the tracks and pulling seven cars behind it off the rails in grotesque pileups.

As the din of the crash subsided, the screams of passengers injured and trapped rose from the smashed coaches. Passengers aboard seven sleeping cars which remained on the track were shaken but joined in rescue efforts quickly spurred by hundreds of residents of the surrounding countryside who had been aroused by the shattering noise.

Hours after the crash, only seven bodies had been exhumed. Others were wedged in the wreckage. Rescue workers with acetylene torches cut through tangled steel under the glare of searchlights and continued as the hot sun beat down.

Wife's Love Affair
Blamed In Killing;
Detroit Man Freed

Detroit, June 15 (AP)—A recorder's court jury tonight acquitted Camille Dewerd of murder in the shotgun killing of Henry Couvreur with whom Dewerd's wife admitted having intimacies for eight years.

The one man and 11 women jurors deliberated two hours and 20 minutes before finding Dewerd innocent on the ground that the knowledge of his wife's love affair had driven him temporarily insane.

Mrs. Dewerd collapsed in the arms of her son and daughter when the verdict was announced. "We'll be together again," she sobbed. "We'll move to the country and forget about all this."

The woman said, "I made a mistake, but don't we all make mistakes?"

The wealthy Grosse Pointe Farms contractor was shot March 18 as he emerged with his wife from the home of a friend.

CASITE CLAIMS CURBED

Jap Suicide Attacks
Fail To Sink Biggest
U.S. Aircraft Carrier

BY POPE HALEY

Washington, June 15 (AP)—The U. S. S. Saratoga, oldest and the biggest aircraft carrier in service with the United States fleet, now can lay claim also to being the toughest.

On February 21, two days after D-Day on Iwo Jima, the navy revealed today, big "Sara" was cruising with a fast carrier task group northwest of that island when she took a terrific pounding from enemy air attackers, including some suiciders, who scored seven direct hits.

Her hull was blown open. Her superstructure was twisted into a mass of blackened wreckage. A gaping hole was blown in her flight deck, and her hangar deck was turned into a sea of flames. But she came through, still afloat and fighting.

The final count of her casualties was 123 men killed or missing, and 192 wounded.

After a record-breaking repair job at the Puget Sound, Wash., navy yard, she is already back in action, ready and eager to throw the full weight of her fury at the enemy.

Although it was the first time the Sara had been injured by air attack, she had twice before sustained severe damage from Japanese torpedoes, requiring extensive repairs.

In Cagayan Valley

BY SPENCER DAVIS

Manila, Saturday, June 16 (AP)—The 37th Ohio division, in a spectacular smash out of the mountains of northern Luzon, rolled 22 miles deep into the broad Cagayan valley in a single day, while Australian troops pressing the invasion of Borneo cleared Labuan Island and captured Timbalai airstrip.

General MacArthur's headquarters disclosed the sudden thrust of the Buckeyes on Luzon as the highlight of successes on all the active southwest Pacific fronts.

At last free of the gorge-like confines on Highway No. 5, Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler's division raced 22 miles between Wednesday afternoon and Thursday night and liberated the important valley towns of Santiago and Echague, as 1,200 Japanese dead were added to the casualty list on all Luzon fronts.

Simultaneously, elements of the U. S. Sixth division drove five miles north in the mountains along Highway No. 4, west of the valley, sealing tighter the enemy units caught in that wilderness.

The 33rd division, driving in the Tabo sector of the Agno river gorge above Baguio, also on Luzon, accounted for 400 enemy dead Japanese and the First cavalry division and the 112th cavalry regimental combat team disposed of nearly 400 additional.

But if it were divided equally on a per capita basis the increase would be scarcely noticeable by housewives.

Announcing the third quarter allocation of available dairy products among various claimants on U. S. supplies, the War Food Administration allotted 7,000,000 more pounds for civilian use than the April-June estimated consumption.

Big Three Will Meet In Berlin

BY DON DOANE

London, June 15 (AP)—The big three victory meeting will be held in Berlin, ruined capital of the dead German Reich, an announcement from Prime Minister Churchill's official residence at No. 10 Downing street said tonight.

A spokesman said a date had not been fixed for the meeting, but Brendan Bracken, first lord of the admiralty, said in a speech tonight that the meeting would be held "at the very time votes are being counted" in Britain's general election.

That would place it between July 5, the date of the election, and July 26, when the results are to be announced.

The first revelation that Churchill, President Truman and Marshal Stalin would meet in Berlin came in an exchange of letters between Churchill and Britain's labor party leader, Clement Attlee.

The White House in Washington later confirmed that the meeting would take place in the vicinity of Berlin. White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, who made the announcement, said he could not give out anything on the date of the meeting.

Attlee, in accepting Churchill's offer to attend the conference as a "friend and counselor" let out the secret of the parley site by using the phrase "prospective conference in Berlin" in his letter to the prime minister.

While the date of the meeting remained a secret, Churchill stated yesterday that it would be before July 26.

Attlee, former deputy prime minister in Churchill's coalition government and present leader of the labor opposition, lifted the lid in a letter which was the result of a question raised as to his role in the big three discussions.

Harold Laski, labor party chairman, said last night that Attlee should attend only in the role of observer without binding the labor party on any decisions taken.

BIG ROOSEVELT

$196,000 Loss

Washington, June 15 (AP)—Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the house ways and means committee said today he had ordered a thorough study of the 1942 income tax return of John Hartford, reported to have lost $196,000 loaned to Brig. Elliott Roosevelt.

"I want to see whether the revenues of the government are being properly protected," Doughton said.

He told newspaper men he had directed Colin F. Stam, chief of the congressional staff of tax experts to examine Hartford's 1942 return in which the president of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company is reported to have sought a tax reduction on $196,000 lost on a $200,000 loan to the late president's second son.

This action was taken after a conference with Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.), Republican ways and means leader, who said he would propose that Roosevelt and Hartford be called before the committee to give the facts in the much-discussed financial transaction.

Washington, June 15 (AP)—Paul M. Herzog of New York was confirmed by the senate today as a member of the National Labor Relations Board. President Truman has announced his intention of designating him as NLRB chairman, succeeding Harry A. Millis, resigned.

In a statement released simultaneously by the White House and the United States delegation at San Francisco it was said that the conference "is making a real effort to wind up its business by the end of next week and it is hoped that President Truman will be able to address the conference on Saturday, June 23."

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the president will fly to Olympia, Wash., next Tuesday or Wednesday, probably Tuesday, to be the guest of Gen. Mon C. Wallgren, and fly from Olympia to San Francisco the day before his speech.

He will return to Washington on June 24, if the conference closes the day before, and remain here until June 27 when he will fly to Kansas City to attend homecoming celebrations at nearby Independence that afternoon and at Kansas City the next day.

The president's tentative plans call for his address to the conference between 5 and 5:30 p. m., Pacific War Time, Saturday, June 23. On that day he will attend a small reception at which he will meet Mayor Lapham's United States conference committee made up of San Francisco citizens.

His address will be made at the closing session in the opera house.

Revealing this today, the navy said five mines were swept from the entrance to New York harbor between November 13 and 31, 1942, and from November 13 to 15 the port was completely bottled up, with no traffic moving in or out.

The entrance to Chesapeake Bay, gateway to the ports of Norfolk and Newport News, Va., and Baltimore, Md., was twice closed to traffic, once from June 16 to 17, 1942, and again from September 12 to 14, 1942. Before the Chesapeake Bay area was closed the first time, four vessels had been damaged or sunk by what were believed to be submarine-placed mines.

Also closed at various times as a result of enemy planted mines Jacksonville, Fla., Charleston, S. C., and Wilmington, Del. These were all closed for brief periods in the fall of 1942, and Charleston was again closed for two days in September, 1943.

The destroyer Bainbridge, while making a depth charge attack against a submarine outside the Virginia Capes June 14, 1942, was damaged by a heavy explosion astern. It was believed one of her depth charges detonated a mine.

NAZI SECRETSPOISON VIAL FOUND
HIDDEN ON BODY OF DIPLOMAT

BY DANIEL DE LUCE

Montgomery's Headquarters, Germany, June 15 (AP)—Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, a thousand high Nazi secrets hidden in his once-facile brain, was questioned tonight by Allied experts at Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters at Frankfurt on the Main.

British military detectives who traced the fugitive diplomat to a rented room in Hamburg and arrested him as he lay sleeping nude yesterday morning, a phial of poison hidden on his body, sent him off by plane from Lueneburg today for questioning by the most skilled examiners in the Allied supreme command.

Woman Shares Hideout

The silver-haired former champagne salesman, whose capture resulted from a tip by the son of a Hamburg wine merchant who had refused to conceal Von Ribbentrop, was sharing his hideaway with a 35-year-old brunette divorcee, Allied officials disclosed.

Von Ribbentrop was quoted as telling his captors he was on a "mission from the dead fuhrer."

The son of the wine merchant, British investigators said, became suspicious about the mysterious stranger who visited his father's shop so often and told British military police he believed he was Von Ribbentrop. The raid followed.

Von Ribbentrop was said to have adopted a stoical attitude after a hysterical scene early today when his sister identified him before British officers.

Newsman Too Late

The sister, also arrested by the British, was officially identified as Frau Doctor Marie Jenke. Von Ribbentrop's son, Rudolf, was discovered in an American prisoner of war cage several days ago.

Allied correspondents reached Lueneburg airport too late to witness the departure of the once-fugitive foreign minister, who is generally credited with having "sold" Hitler on the belief that he could invade Poland without interference from Britain.

Arresting officers found and confiscated three letters addressed from the Nazi foreign minister to Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and "Wincent Churchill." Their contents were not disclosed.

Von Ribbentrop, who had been hiding in Hamburg since April 30 while British sleuths trailed him across northern Germany, was quoted as saying:

"I wanted to stay in hiding in Hamburg until British opinion was less hostile, and then intended to surrender for a fair trial which would spare my life."

It was learned authoritatively that his name is high on the list of war criminals and that he has no chance of successfully pleading diplomatic immunity. At least 10 European nations are understood to want him for war crimes.

No Friends Left

Just what he and the other major war criminals will be brought to trial apparently has not been decided, but both British and American sources have emphasized that the trials will be

NAHMA EXCEEDS E BOND QUOTA

Again Is First Township In Delta County To Go "Over The Top"

Nahma township residents have purchased $20,250 in E bonds in the Seventh War Loan drive and again is the first township in Delta county to exceed its quota, it was reported yesterday by Charles Hammar, county War Loan chairman.

A. R. Jehn, chairman of the Nahma township War Loan committee, reported that, "our total E bond sales for this drive now total $20,250 as of June 12. This puts us just $250 over the quota assigned to us, and we expect this to go considerably higher by the end of the drive."

The Seventh War Loan drive will end June 30, and the county's E bond quota is $714,000.

Chairman Hammar reported that Delta county no longer is in "cellar position" in E bond sales among Upper Peninsula counties, as it has been until recently.

The county is now in twelfth place with 40.5 per cent of its E bond quota subscribed. Houghton, Keweenaw counties, combined, are in thirteenth place with 37.8 per cent, and Alger county is at the bottom with 37.1 per cent.

Top county in the Upper Peninsula in the purchase of E bonds is Dickinson county, where 65.6 per cent of its quota has been purchased. Luce county is second with 60.3 per cent.

Government Takes Over Truck Lines In Chicago Region

Chicago, June 16 (Saturday) (P)—The government by proclamation took possession at 12:01 a. m. today of approximately 1,700 truck lines which have agreements with two drivers' unions.

Army and Office of Defense Transportation sources reported no immediate plans for physical seizure of the firms, or even token seizure by a few representatives, but rumors were current that troops from nearby army camps were scheduled to arrive here this morning.

The seizure order, issued in Washington Friday, was a development in a wage and hour dispute of several months standing. At the time of its issuance members of the two drivers' unions were voting on a strike question. The National Labor Relations Board, which supervised the balloting, announced that the vote was 805 to 128 in favor of a strike.

Gandhi Says He Must Step Aside As India Leader

Bombay, June 15 (P)—Mohan-das K. Gandhi said today that the time has come when he must step aside as the leader of India's independence movement.

In a statement issued after the British freed the eight imprisoned members of the National Congress working committee, the 76-year-old leader said:

"For several years I acted as advisor to the congress whenever required. Now that the members of the working committee are free I can only give them my advice and it is they who have to shape the policy of the congress and to speak and act with authority."

Hara Kiri Increases

The Japanese likewise held on to heights a mile or so east of Yaeju peak, but battlefront dispatches declared there were unmistakable signs the enemy was beginning to break up under the pressure of infantry and the unceasing ordeal of fire.

Enemy suicides were increasing daily. Infantry charging over the hills and ravines strode across the bodies of scores of Japanese, many of whom had committed hara kiri.

Maj. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle, commanding the First Marine Division, said the enemy was beginning to break up under the pressure of infantry and the unceasing ordeal of fire.

The capture of 500-foot Yaeju peak was a heavy blow to the enemy, for some field officers estimated that no more than 200 Japanese were needed to defend its naturally formidable positions.

In seven days, 200,000 rounds of artillery shells had been poured into the cliff positions, driving the enemy from the face of the bluff and away from the rim of the plateau.

Only a nucleus of seasoned infantrymen was believed left to the Japanese garrison, now possibly only 10,000 strong out of an original force of 85,000. The rest were thought to be laborers from rival construction and anti-aircraft units.

But despite the despair in their ranks as reflected in the rash of suicides and surrenders, they were fighting back hard from the rocks, caves and ravines on the top of the coral plateau, Associated Press correspondent Al Dopping reported from the front.

Negaunee Cave-In Detour Discontinued

Lansing, June 15 (P)—Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner, announced today two detours on Upper Peninsula trunk-line highways have been discontinued.

A mine cave-in two months ago at the side of M-35 at the south limits of Negaunee had forced the closing of that portion of the road until it was found there was no danger of the sinking of the highway.

Removal of corduroy preparatory to maintenance work had caused a 10-day detour on M-69 at Felch. The corduroy has been removed and the road will be kept open while other work is being carried on, Ziegler said.

Mary Allerton was the last survivor of the Pilgrims who came to America on the first voyage of the Mayflower.

"At this point I must stop and the working committee has to take up the threat. It is time for the members to declare the mind of the congress on impending questions."

Lid Clamped Down

Tighter On Sugar:

Industries Are Hit

Washington, June 15. (P)—The OPA clamped the lid on the sugar bowl even tighter today with sharp reductions in the July-September allotments to industrial users.

The cut gives the biggest segment of commercial users, such as ice cream and bottled beverage producers, bakeries and cereal manufacturers, 37½ per cent less sugar than they received in the third quarter of 1944.

The new grant to these companies is about 23 per cent smaller than they obtained in the current April-June quarter. It is only 50 per cent of their 1941 base period use.

Coming in the wake of cuts in household, restaurant and home canning rations, the industrial reductions are necessary to bring sugar use in line with limited supplies, OPA said.

Commercial canners of fruit also are affected. They will receive an average of 20 per cent less sugar than a year ago.

Fairing best were pharmaceutical firms, which take an 8 per cent reduction from April-June.

The strike came late in the afternoon as the huge carrier was launching her planes. A group of Japanese bombers, believed to be on suicide missions, closed in. The ship's AA guns and pilots in the air shot down four. Four others managed to crash and bomb the ship. The ninth was knocked down alongside the ship, but freckishly caromed off the water and exploded, tearing a huge hole in her side below the waterline, rupturing many fuel oil lines, and giving the ship a six degree list.

Burning planes and leaking fuel blanketed the ship in flames. The flight deck, at the forward end, was battered beyond use, and a Japanese suicide penetrated the side of the ship into the hangar deck, where his plane exploded, causing great fires.

Despite this ordeal, however, the Saratoga not only continued to move but gathered speed as heroic survivors of her crew fought manfully to get her fires under control.

Within only a few hours, they successfully completed the job, and the Saratoga, proceeding under her own power, continued flight operations, landing not only her own planes but those of another damaged carrier in the vicinity.

Shortly after the first mass attack, more Japanese planes appeared and one managed to drop another bomb on the carrier before crashing in the water. Damage from that attack was also soon brought under control.

The day Chesapeake Bay traffic was reopened June 17, 1942, the medium sized United States merchant ship Santoro was mined in the same area and sank.

Five enemy mines were swept by mine craft outside Chesapeake Bay in June, 1942, and seven in September, 1942.

Four were swept outside Delaware Bay in June, 1942, and a fifth was exploded in that vicinity by the large tugboat John R. Williams, which was so badly damaged it sank.

In addition, the navy disclosed, 10 enemy mines were swept at the entrance to the Panama Canal in the vicinity of Colon, and four were swept off Port Castries, Santa Lucia, British West Indies.

No ships were damaged or sunk in either of these areas, although a native canoe and a small motor launch were shaken by a mine explosion at Port Castries.

The rebate was ordered to reduce the company's income to the point where it would not have to pay excess profits taxes on its intra-state business.

Lansing, June 15 (P)—The State Public Service commission moved today to appeal to the state supreme court a circuit court order setting aside the commission's ruling that the Michigan Bell Telephone company must refund $3,500,000 to its customers.

IN A LOVE MATCH FOR

VAN JOHNSON

BACK TO FARM FOR WAR HERO

Sgt. Johnson Plans To Work At Foster City
After Discharge

With the Fifth Army, Italy—Big, shy Sergeant Oscar G. Johnson, Jr., 24, who might have been an outstanding athlete if he had not been too busy, plans to return to his father's dairy farm in Foster City, Mich., when he leaves the army.

Johnson is six feet, one inch tall and weighs 180 pounds, but it is 12 miles from Foster City to Felch, Mich., where he attended high school, and the long journey made it impossible for him to participate in athletics in the afternoon when academic classes adjourned.

His chief extra-curricular activity while a high school student was a forestry camp conducted by the school. Johnson was particularly interested in tree planting.

Born in Ishpeming
Johnson, from the time he was graduated from high school in 1939 until he entered the army, October 8, 1942, helped run the dairy farm operated by his father.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar G. Johnson, Sr., the sergeant was born in Ishpeming, Mich., and the family moved when he was a small child to Foster City, where he attended grade school. He has three brothers, Herbert, 20, Kenneth, 18, and Wesley, 14.

Sergeant Johnson says the carbine, because of its lightness and accuracy with which it can be fired with the new sight, is his favorite weapon. He carried one all winter on the Fifth Army front in Italy.

He is partial, also, to Garand rifles and carried one of these more ponderous weapons from near Leghorn to the Gothic Line, although, as acting leader of a 60-millimeter mortar squad, he normally would have carried only a pistol.

The action for which Johnson received America's highest decoration took place atop Monticelli Ridge in Il Gogo Pass, hotly contested segment of the Gothic Line. There, he used three Garand rifles, an automatic rifle and a Tommy gun to kill 40 Germans, silence three enemy machineguns and take 24 prisoners.

At the time, Johnson was a private first class in Company B of the 363rd Infantry Regiment, 91st "Powder River" Division.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar G. Johnson, Sr., live on their dairy farm near Foster City.

Tree Fruit Crop Halved In State

Lansing, (AP)—Michigan's 1945 tree fruit crop will be less than half as large as last year's but expected yields from field crops are generally above average, the federal state crop reporting service said Tuesday.

Milk production during May continued to break previous records but there were fewer eggs because seasonal production reached its production earlier than usual.

The service said Michigan's expected 23,400,000 bushels of wheat is 43 per cent above the 1934-43 average and the largest since 1898 and the June estimate for oats is 54,390,000 bushels, 26 per cent above average. The yield per acre of rye also is above average, but because of a decreased acreage, total production is expected to be 40 per cent below average. Late frosts and continued cold weather have harmed hay and pasture crops.

The outlook for peaches is the most favorable in the fruit picture the service said, with the crop expected to approximate 2,340,000 bushels, near the year average but 35 per cent less than last year.

The sour cherry crop is estimated at 10,000 tons or 20 per cent as large as the record 1944 crop, while the sweet cherry crop is a near failure, with an estimated production of 600 tons, compared with 4,600 tons in 1944. The expected 356,000 bushels of pears is only 30 per cent of the 1944 crop.

Although official production estimates of apples, plums and grapes are not made until later in the season, the service reported prospects now are for very short crops.

Abnormal Depletion Of Ground Water Worries Geologists

Lansing—Abnormal depletion of ground water supplies by war industries and by municipalities whose populations have been swelled by war workers is worrying state geologists.

The conservation department's geological survey division, working with the U. S. Geological Survey and Michigan State College, is to press its investigations of ground water potentialities. A new map showing surface geology of the lower peninsula will be prepared for use of industries and municipalities in planning water supply development programs.

Surface water investigations will anticipate postwar recreation needs and the growing problem of maintaining normal lake levels. Mapping of glacial clays, silts, sands and gravels from which soils are derived will assist in soil conservation planning, crop planting, and reforestation.

Spectroscopic analyses reveal that 49 of the 90 chemical elements found on the earth are also present in the sun.

SERVES IN PACIFIC—Coast Guardsman Wilbur E. Miller, Water Tender second class of 801 First Ave., Escanaba, Michigan, is shown aboard a Coast Guard manned Frigate somewhere in the North Pacific. He has three brothers in the service in various theatres of war.

SUGAR FORMS ARE ACCEPTED

Canning Certificates To Be Issued Beginning
Monday

Applications for canning sugar ratings are now being received at the Delta county rationing board, but no certificates will be issued before Monday, June 18, James E. Anderson, chief clerk, reported yesterday.

In accordance with the revised OPA regulations, applicants will be allotted sugar for canning purposes on the basis of five pounds per person in the initial issuance, with a second allotment of seven pounds to be made later in the season. Only one application is necessary for the two issuances, however.

Applicants are advised to place their applications as rapidly as possible at the local board. Application can be made by mail, obviating the necessity for lengthy periods of waiting in line at the ration board. However, all applications must be made on approved forms available at the local rationing board office. Copies of this form will be mailed to applicants upon request.

One person may apply for the entire family, but the spare stamp No. 13 from the ration book of each family member must be attached to the application.

Snelgrove Named Rutgers Professor

Houghton — Appointed visiting professor at Rutgers university, Dr. A. K. Snelgrove of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology staff will go on a year's leave of absence July 1. The college board of control approved this action at its June 11 meeting in view of the earnest request of the New Jersey institution for Prof. Snelgrove's services temporarily.

Dr. Snelgrove will organize and initiate the Rutgers University Bureau of Mineral Research. He has been director of the Geological Survey of Newfoundland and is now its consulting geologist; taught at Princeton; has organized important surveys and conferences; is active in the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers; and has published widely on geological subjects. He came to MCMT as head of the geological engineering department in 1940.

Comet Discovered By Harvard Staff

Cambridge, Mass.—A new comet, named du Toit for its discoverer, has been speeding across the heavens during the past two months. The faint comet, discovered by a member of the Harvard Observatory staff at Bloemfontein, South Africa, has been watched by astronomers in South Africa as it traveled from the constellation of Leo, the Lion, to Hydra, the water monster.

In April Harvard's South African station radioed that the tenth magnitude comet had been discovered on April 9. As the object was not found on plates of the region made at the Harvard Observatory here, however, Dr. Harold Shapley, director of the observatory, withheld announcement and wrote for confirmation.

Harvard has just received a second radio message, presumably in reply to Dr. Shapley's letter, stating that the new comet du Toit has been observed continuously for two months by both the Boyden station at Bloemfontein and the Union Observatory at Johannesburg. Dr. J. Jackson, director of the Royal Observatory of Capetown, has computed the approximate orbit of the comet which has now, however, become so faint as to be beyond the limit of the ten-inch photographic telescope.

Marines Find New Surgical Mask Use

Washington—The Marines have discovered a new battle use for surgical masks, the squares of cotton gauze that doctors and hospital staffs wear when performing operations and when working with patients who have contagious diseases.

During the invasion of Iwo Jima, they used 5,000 such masks supplied by the American Red Cross, as protection for nasal passages against irritating sulfur dust and volcanic ash which clouded the air over that strategic island.

Will Shoot Stray Dogs, Miron Warns

Because of many complaints from county residents that stray dogs are damaging and destroying gardens, Sheriff William E. Miron yesterday warned dog owners in the townships that strays "will be shot on sight".

Complaints have been received by the sheriff's office from residents of Cornell, Brampton and Bark River townships that dogs are running at large through their gardens and causing damage. The number of stray dogs was reported to be larger than ever before.

Bank Debits Reveal Business Increase

In Escanaba, the volume of bank debits in May, 1945, were 21 per cent above those of May, 1944, and the cumulative total (January through May) of 1945 was 2 per cent above that of 1944.

These bank debits figures represent the dollar volume of checks drawn by depositors against their bank accounts to pay for goods, services, debts, etc. For a locality, bank debits are considered a good indicator of the volume of business transacted, for they reflect the amount spent by farmers, business, and government in payrolls and for materials as well as the amount spent by consumers in the general trade channels.

The volume of bank debits in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan were 10 per cent above those of a year ago while the total for the first five months of this year was 4 per cent above that of the corresponding period of a year ago.

Bank debits for the entire Ninth Federal Reserve District for the month of May were 18 per cent above the same 1944 month, while the figures for the first five months of 1945 were slightly above those for the identical period in 1944.

BIDS ON DOCK TO BE OPENED

Contract For Dismantling Will Be Awarded In Milwaukee Today

The bids for dismantling the No. 1 government ore dock and trestle approach at Escanaba will be opened in the office of the U. S. Army Corp of Engineers in Milwaukee today.

Requirements for bidders have not been publicly announced, but it is reported that the dismantling operations must be completed in 90 days after the award of contract. The lumber and timber salvaged from the dismantling job will be used in government projects in other areas.

The No. 3 dock, which had been only partially completed, previously was dismantled by C. G. Bridges, of Escanaba.

It is reported that the bidders on the present job include Merritt-Chapman & Scott corporation, who constructed the government dock here.

Automobile Repair Ceilings Postponed

Effective date of the new regulation setting specific limits on the hours of labor that can be charged for on 56 common passenger car repair jobs has been postponed one month, until July 14, 1945.

The regulation, originally announced as effective June 14, 1945 is designed to check a practice in some automobile repair shops of charging customers for more hours of labor than repairs actually require.

OPA said that the postponement was requested by representatives of the trade who desired to have further consultations about the new provisions before they became effective.

Although the new regulation was discussed with representatives of the automobile repair trade before it was put into final shape, OPA said that the requested postponement had been agreed to so that the trade would have an additional opportunity to express its views.

STAR ROUTE PAY RAISE PROPOSED

Legislation Has Strong Congressional Support

Washington, D. C. (WNS)—Strong congressional support is reported for legislation increasing the pay of star route mail carriers, who are having a hard time making both ends meet under the present system of bidding for their jobs.

There are two star mail routes into and out of Escanaba. One is from Escanaba to Powers and back, 25.05 miles, six times a week, and at present pays $1,080. The other is from Ishpeming to Escanaba and back, 77.60 miles, six times a week, and at present pays $2,795.

Men and women who want such jobs have to compete for them every four years in bids filed with the postoffice department. They have to own and maintain the vehicles in which the mail is carried.

Because of this competition, bidders sometimes offer their services at such low prices they can not make a "go" of their jobs. Many carriers annually are forced to give up the work because of losses sustained. Others are not able to finance care of their motor vehicles according to regulations.

Three bills providing for higher pay are under consideration. One, H. R. 2524, would permit pay increases up to 35 per cent. Another, H. R. 200, would enable carriers to be paid for time spent on their routes at 75 cents per hour, plus six to ten cents per mile maintenance costs. The third, S. 635, would pay 90 cents an hour, plus six to ten cents per mile for maintenance.

The latter two bills would place carriers under the civil service system, with regular pay and retirement benefits.

Members of congress who have expressed an interest in this matter, agreed it is unfair to operate the system on a competitive basis.

Telephone Pioneers Officers Elected

Detroit—Robert N. Hollyer, Detroit, has been named president of the Wolverine (Michigan) Chapter of the Telephone Pioneers of America for the year beginning July 1, it was announced today.

Elected by mail ballot among the 2,500 members of the organization in Michigan, Hollyer has been with the Michigan Bell Telephone Company 26 years. He is a former president of the Federation of Telephone Employees of Michigan.

New vice-presidents are: Detroit Division, Granet A. Sweeney, Royal Oak; Southern Division, Orville L. Barber, Grand Rapids; Central Division, Robert T. Morris, Saginaw; and Northern (Upper Peninsula) Division, Louis P. Allard, Menominee. Lowell Johnson, Detroit, was reelected secretary and Arthur C. Kuhn, Detroit, treasurer.

Gasoline Ration Rules Are Changed

A change affecting the eligibility of persons for gasoline rations was announced by the Office of Price Administration.

Servicemen returning to this country from overseas, who are issued temporary duty orders for "rehabilitation, recuperation and recovery" may obtain furlough gasoline rations.

The returning servicemen should apply to their War Price and Rationing Boards and present both their temporary duty orders and the mileage rationing record for the car that they are going to use. The furlough ration, which will remain unchanged, provides one gallon of gasoline each day of the furlough, leave or temporary duty, to a maximum of 30 gallons.

Pfc. Henry Sauers Gets Silver Star For Heroic Deed

Pfc. Henry L. Sauers, Jr., of Escanaba, has been awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action against the enemy in France on Jan. 24, 1945, it has been announced.

The citation follows: "Pfc. Sauers, a platoon runner, volunteered to accompany a wireman to establish a communications line between an observation post and the command post under the protective fire of a friendly patrol.

As the two soldiers were advancing through a heavily mined area, the wireman became seriously injured by an enemy mine. Pfc. Sauers transferred the wireman's load to his own and although lacking in previous wire experience, established communications from the patrol to the observation post while under constant enemy artillery and sniper fire. He then bravely defused enemy mines and returned for his wounded comrade, administered first aid, and dragged him to the safety of friendly lines."

Patton Returning

THE announcement by the war department that the U. S. Third and Seventh armies, along with the 15th, have been designated for the occupation job in Germany and that Gen. Patton is returning to Germany as head of the Third army occupation forces was somewhat of a surprise. Gen. Patton had indicated several times that he was hopeful of an assignment in the Pacific and it was generally believed that he would get his wish.

The 15th army, previously regarded as the probable occupation force in Germany, will remain in Europe only temporarily, probably until December, at which time the Third and Seventh armies will take over the entire occupation job.

The selection of the Seventh army for occupation duty fits in with Gen. Eisenhower's promise that soldiers who fought both in Italy and Germany will not be re-assigned to further combat duty. The Seventh army was activated in Italy for the invasion of Southern France. Those troops who qualify for discharge under the point system will get their release from military service and most of the remainder will be assigned to occupation duties.

In any case, considerable reshuffling of the personnel of both the Third and Seventh armies, along with personnel of other armies still stationed in the European theater of operations may be expected. It is still impossible to determine definitely what the future assignment of any individual soldier will be, regardless of what army corps to which he may now be assigned.

As for Gen. Patton himself, he may eventually get his wish for a combat assignment in the Pacific. Although he is returning to Europe, he reported as late as Thursday of this week that he "had hopes" of getting to the Pacific. This statement undoubtedly was made even after Patton had knowledge of his return to Germany. A man as persistent as Gen. Patton has proved himself to be generally gets what he wants in the end.

Self-Rule for India

BRITAIN'S intentions to give India a greater measure of self-rule are indicated by a recent promise to reorganize the executive council to make it more representative of organized political opinion in the colonial possession.

Indian leaders jailed for political activity have been released. Official announcement shows that British policy remains the same, however. It promises that the Indian people will be encouraged to assume charge of their own government, but that Britain will not "hand India over to anarchy or civil war."

Satisfaction of Indian demands for self-government or independence has been long impeded, not by political experience or lack of economic or social progress. The difficulty lies rather in the fact that there exists in India a complex pattern of conflicting factors—political, religious and to some extent racial—which have defied repeated attempts at reconciliation.

While Indian nationalists have asserted on occasion that Britain has overestimated such differences, or has exhibited undue concern for protection of minorities, out of a desire to perpetuate British rule, it is still true that prevalence of complicated minority problems has been one of the principal stumbling blocks to advancement of self-government in India.

Are Important Objectives

LABUAN and Tarakan islands, Borneo, where Allied forces have made landings in a drive to clear the big island of Japs and make Borneo oil available for use against them, lie some 250 miles apart, and a line connecting them cuts across the main island close to the southern boundary of British North Borneo.

The oil of Borneo, and of other islands in the East Indies, made it a great prize for the Japanese who mine very little petroleum in their homeland and must rely on importations and synthetic fuel. The area occupied by Borneo, Sumatra and Java is regarded by petroleum geologists as one of the great potential sources of oil of the world. Development of their fields had only begun prior to the war, but North Borneo, in 1939, produced 777,000 tons, and the Netherlands Borneo a much larger amount.

The reconquest of all Borneo is not a minor undertaking because Borneo is the second largest island in the world, not counting Australia and Greenland. It is nearly as large as Texas and Louisiana together, with an area of about 300,000 square miles. It is a compact body of land somewhat triangular in shape stretching some 800 miles from the north to south, approximately the distance from Washington to Chicago. It is about 600 miles wide from east to west at its greatest width.

Both parts of Borneo produce petroleum, British North Borneo produced 777,000 tons

In 1939, as said, but the Netherlands Borneo produced 8,000,000 tons in 1938. Industrial diamonds and food are two additional products of Borneo that the Japs badly need.

Bumpers Improved

IT IS good to see pictures of the first new model automobiles in four years beginning to appear in the papers. And we find it particularly good to see a broader, sturdier bumper on the fronts of at least two of them. We hope it's symptomatic of a new trend.

We've achieved tremendous additional speed in the air during the war years. And we've built up a great yen for surface speed among the motorists who have been keeping to a maximum 35 in the hope of prolonging the life of aging cars and thinning tires.

Automobile makers could probably build much faster postwar cars, but we rather hope they won't. In the last post-war years our traffic casualties exceeded our annual military casualties since then. And so, since the automobile makers can't engineer sense and caution into the post-war driver, we hope that they will engineer a little more slowness and safety into the postwar car, and leave the speedways in the skies.

The Bill for War

NONE of us can appreciate the actuality of a trillion dollars, which American University researchers estimate is the cost of the war to date. But the least imaginative of us can take that inconceivable figure, add the destruction of public and private property which the estimate does not include, and add to that the yet-uncounted millions of lives lost since Sept. 1, 1939.

The result will not give us an accurate total, but it will give us an inescapable conclusion: Civilization cannot again indulge in such staggering, insane extravagance and survive.

BRADLEY FILLS THE BILL

(Christian Science Monitor)

President Truman's selection of Gen. Omar N. Bradley as Administrator of Veterans' Affairs is expedient, it is smart, and more than either, it is wise. The Veterans Administration has been under fire. The evidence has not pointed to much more than the results of the crystallization which assails huge institutions unless they are thoroughly renovated at reasonable intervals. But the situation has demanded both a fresh start and the restoration of public confidence.

Nothing could accomplish both more quickly and effectively than the appointment of a new chief with the ability to do the job and with a reputation which speaks for itself. It is expedient that it be held by a military man. The men who are now soldiers, sailors, and marines expect their future needs to be understood in terms of their present service.

And while the post calls for an outstanding military figure, it also, by its very nature, asks that he be noted for alone for his efficiency, but also for his sympathetic understanding of the "little fellow." For it is the "little fellow" who needs most the Veterans Administration's help.

General Bradley seems to fit these specifications to a nicety. He is unquestionably one of the top military figures of this war. His ability is beyond doubt. His practical concern for the welfare of his men, his democracy, and his simplicity are already legendary. He will serve men who have again become civilians in a civilian land. So his task will be less military than that of an executive in public welfare. But General Bradley's talent in picking subordinates should insure assistants who can supply whatever experience he may lack.

At least we won't have one shortage that the Japs will—a shortage of cities.

Take My Word For It

Frank Colby

FETCH, BRING, TAKE, CARRY

These simple words puzzle a good many people, if this modest department's mail is a criterion.

Fetch: "go get and bring back." Correct: I am teaching the dog to fetch the ball. Please fetch me a glass of water. The paper has just come—will you fetch it, please?

Bring: "to bear by, to or toward the one speaking." Correct: Please bring back the book you borrowed. When you come to see us, be sure to bring the children. When I return, I hope to bring you good news.

Take: "to bear away from the one speaking." (Take, of course, has many other meanings not pertinent to this article.) Correct: Will you take the children to New York with you? Please take this book home with you. Are you going to take an umbrella with you?

Carry: "to transport, as a burden." Correct: Is the child too heavy for you to carry? Carry this bundle of clothes to the attic. We'll have to carry our own bags.

Note: In the South it is not uncommon to hear such expressions as: I carried her to the dance. I'll come by in the car and carry you to town. We didn't have to walk to church—Jim came in his car and carried us. The usage, however, is not as common as it once was.

Likewise, tote (carry) is disappearing in the South, except, perhaps, in rural speech and especially among negroes. The origino of tote is uncertain, but one authority traces it to an Anglo-Saxon verb, totian, "to lift up; to elevate."

In his original Dictionary, Noah Webster said of the word tote: "A word used in slave-holding countries; said to have been introduced by the blacks." Of this DeVere, in Americanisms (1872), wrote:

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—In the ideal world there would be no Office of War Information because, of course, there would be no war. While we may be moving along toward the ideal world, an inch every millenium, we are still a long way from it, and meanwhile we have an overwhelmingly big war to fight.

Congress is behaving as though that war were about over. They are trying to chip away price control. The house has just thrown half of the Office of War Information out the window. Now OWI is far from being a perfect instrument for waging war and peace. I have seen its imperfections and its limitations. Yes, now and then its fumbling and its incompetence.

But it happens that in this imperfect world it is the only instrument we have to do a necessary job. To abolish it would be the same as saying that we are not interested in presenting our point of view—the viewpoint of western democracy—to the world.

—FUND CUT TO $18,000,000—
Originally Elmer Davis, director of OWI, went before a house committee with a request for $42,000,000 for the coming year. The committee chopped that down to $35,000,000. Then on the floor of the house, the other day, 118 Republicans were joined by 20 Democrats to cut the appropriation to $18,000,000.

This will leave barely enough to continue the psychological warfare in the Far East. It will abolish entirely the OWI outposts in Europe and the Middle East and the office in New York that furnishes these outposts with the running story of American achievement and the American point of view.

What is more, it will do it in the most wasteful way possible. OWI has approximately 1800 people scattered from the British Isles to Moscow and Bagdad. They would all have to be brought home and their salaries would have to be paid while they were waiting for transportation—in some instances, for weeks and months—and while they were en route home.

Our diplomatic missions are for the most part understaffed. They simply do not have the personnel to do an information job. They cannot take time out to tell the story of what America has done in this war.

That is one thing OWI is trying to do, and it is important that it should be done right now. This is not the moment to retire modestly and let others assume the credit for our far-flung achievement. —FOREIGNERS TOUR U. S.—
Many of OWI's most successful efforts have received little or no public notice. The agency has, for example, brought groups of foreign journalists to America on conducted tours to see our war plants, our power dams, our great, rich country. The other day I met a half dozen Belgian journalists who had just completed a six-weeks swing around the country. They had all worked in the underground during the occupation, and they knew little or nothing about the American war effort.

What they saw here left them wide-eyed with astonishment. They were under the spell of America's greatness as they told of the impressions that crowded in on them during the all too brief journey. One of the group put it this way: "We never really knew what America was like until we came over here. We had heard of your achievements, but I suppose we did not believe it. Now we know it is true."

Every member of this group is an editor or a chief editorial writer on the newspapers that today dominate the field in liberated Belgium. The results of their tour are incalculable: They will extend a long way into the future. And this was only one of many such tours.

Most people reading of the hundreds of thousands of pamphlets dropped over Japan from B-29s didn't realize that OWI prepared these pamphlets. That is one part of the job in the Pacific.

During the current fiscal year OWI has operated on a budget of $58,000,000, of which the agency is turning back $4,750,000. The Senate Appropriation committee meets this week to consider OWI's request for $42,000,000. Here is an opportunity to undo the work of the wrecking gang in the House. We still have a long way to go to final peace, and we need all the weapons we can get, even though they are not perfect.

Gracie Allen Says--

I just read about a family that whipped the housing shortage by buying a small hotel to live in.

Regardless of size, I'll bet that hotel seemed small when the family was moved in on by several dozen relatives they didn't know they had.

George is intrigued with the idea of what happens with a mother-in-law under such circumstances. He likes the thought of sending her a weekly bill for the room rent with extras but what if she won't pay it and you hand her an eviction notice? Does daughter get angry and go home to mother, whose home is in room 215?

And my goodness! It must be pretty confusing if the family tries to staff that hotel itself. Imagine carrying ice water to your room and then having to tip yourself!

"This suggestion has nothing in its favor except the simple fact that the negroes never use any other word for carrying," DeVere thinks tote was brought from England when Virginia was settled.

Tut, Tut, Mister, You Aren't Out of the Woods Yet

Good Morning! INTO THE PAST

By The Bugler

TROUBLES — The housewife's job of cooking in these sugar-short days is anything but a sweet job. With the family demanding its usual ration of pies, cakes, cookies, etc., the lady of the kitchen has a hard time making one cup of sugar do the work of three.

For this reason, then, there is the growing popularity of so-called "sugarless" cakes. These derive their sweetening from the use of syrup, sorghum, honey or other liquid substances. There are few women who do not have at least one favorite "sugarless" cake recipe. A request for such a recipe from a Daily Press woman's page reader brought forth not one or two but scores of contributed recipes guaranteed to beat the sugar shortage.

Unless the women's page editor has a careful eye, however, recipes have a way of causing confusion. One typographical error and the whole thing is a mess.

This happened some time back. A lady was making a stew or some such from a Daily Press recipe and it didn't look right to her so she telephoned to inquire about it. The stew was, she said, more like a soup and her husband would be home any minute. What should she do? The recipe couldn't be located, so she was told to keep her eye on the stew so it wouldn't explode and the search for the recipe would go on.

It did go on, unsuccessfully. Finally the reporter decided to call the woman and suggest stirring in a little flour to thicken up the mess. But when the husband answered the phone, hungry and cross, the reporter lost courage.

"I'm sorry," she said, breaking into a gentle sweat, "I guess I've got the wrong number," and hung up.

FOR CUT WORMS—Gardeners know all about cut worms, and put paper collars, wooden palisades and other devices around their tomato plants to keep them away. Harold Meiers (of the first straw hat of the season) has a sure-cure anti-cutworm recipe.

"You take," he says, "one package of Peerless tobacco and put it in water and then sprinkle the plant and the ground around it." He says that it will not hurt the tomato plant but it will give the cutworms a bad case of nicotine nerves.

AND JUNE BUGS—The Escanaba police department has had many an exciting experience chasing law breakers, big and little. It isn't often, however, they are called upon to save two girls from the attentions of a couple of June bugs.

This did happen a few days back, and it bears telling. One Escanaba girl of the bobby-sox age was spending the night with her girl-friend in the absence of the house they began to hear noises in the darkness of the room. Switching on the light they discovered two large, ferocious and over-active June bugs.

They telephoned the police. The police arrived. The June bugs couldn't be found. The police left and were just climbing into the squad car when the girls began shrieking from an upstairs window. The police came back. The June bugs were found and eliminated. The police went away.

AND WOOD TICKS — Peerless tobacco may be the cure for cut worms, and the police the answer to June bugs, but Howard Eldred is looking for something to exterminate wood ticks. Howard is game area manager for the conservation department. Anne Morrow Lindbergh, wife sented with a degree by Smith college for the courage, resourcefulness, and honesty that she had shown. After receiving the degree she was given an ovation which lasted several minutes.

President Roosevelt announced that the next six months would make or break the Works Project Administration. He said that if the plan were a success it would end the dangers of unemployment for the time. He emphasized the hope that the plan would work without being influenced by race, religion, or politics.

More than 550 Philco radio dealers and salesmen came to Escanaba aboard the palatial steamer, the Seandee. This group was larger than was expected by 150. Robert LeMire, a student of Notre Dame University, has been named business manager of the Notre Dame band for the following year. He is the son of Mrs. W. A. LeMire of this city.

Two Gladstone students received awards in accuracy and speed in typing and stenography from the Cleveland Commercial College in Escanaba. Miss Phyllis Hupy received a gold pin from the Gregg Writer of New York for typing over error and Miss Elsie Johnson received a gold emblem from Gregg Writer for unusual speed and accuracy in a national shorthand test.

Dr. Cheynoweth has returned from a trip to Canada. She visited Ontario and other cities.

20 Years Ago—1925
Robert M. LaFollette, progressive senator from Wisconsin, is seriously ill in Washington with bronchial asthma and has taken a turn for the worse but his family is not yet alarmed.

Shanghai is not yet back to normal after its recurrent riots. One British policeman was badly hurt by a mob and is not expected to recover and one British official was killed by snipers yesterday.

Harvey Jorgenson, a student at the University of Minnesota, has returned to his home here for the summer vacation.

Mrs. Margaret Lemmer of St. Mary's Court and Mrs. Alice Murphy of Holy Family Court have gone to Marquette where they will attend a special meeting of the two orders.

For the past two weeks or more it has been his job to collect wood ticks for a department biologist who will come to Escanaba next week. Wood ticks, as you may know, have an unpleasant habit of burying their toothy-beak in human flesh. And when the tick is gone the beak remains to make a festering sore.

"Down along the Menominee river the wood ticks were so thick I had 75 on me all at once," Howard reported. "Wherever they get on you they always seem to head for the back of your neck and try to crawl up in your hair."

He itched himself gently, just thinking about it. Every time he goes home after a wood tick trip he practically must undergo a "tickicking." Despite these precautions, however, the Eldred dog got one from some place—and he wasn't even out of town. Howard thinks he carried it home on his clothes.

Howard laughs at tick bites and some of the methods proposed to remove the beaks. He just brushes the unwelcome visitor off and then picks out the beak with a needle, like a splinter, and then applies iodine to the place.

So far he has collected about 200 ticks in two weeks. He should have several hundred by the time the summer is over. They are placed in tightly-corked little glass phials, but they seem to thrive minus air, woods or someone to chew on. Howard says he understands they will live for five years that way.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington — Harry Truman is facing the same kind of mess which, as a senator, he used to investigate so efficiently.

The President has told close friends that he dreads the possibility of some big war scandal being connected with his administration, and today a situation pregnant with possibilities is brewing right under his nose in the surplus war property board. It isn't Truman's fault; he inherited it. But it may boomerang against him just the same.

Billions of dollars of surplus war property are to be disposed of—war plants, machine tools, jeeps, airplanes, steel mills, aluminum works, airplane factories. Not only is there room for graft, but the companies who get these plums can influence economic history for a decade.

Not much graft is known—so far. But the backstage lobbying for pipelines, synthetic rubber plants, high octane gas plants can result in greater scandals through favoritism than mere graft.

Eagle-eyed Senator Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming, alert defender of the public interest, has been scrutinizing some of these things. Here are some of the backstage developments which he is probing:

Best protector of the public on the surplus property board is general counsel Wesley Sturges, who last week was excluded from meetings of the board. He objected to too much big-business favoritism by board members. . . Sturges is a former Yale professor, former U. S. Foreign Economic Administrator in North Africa, former Czar of the liquor industry. . . He and ex-Senator Gillette of Iowa were the chief protectors of the public on the board; but now Gillette, tired of the battle, is retiring.

Chief opponent of small-business-protector Sturges is Col. Alfred E. Howse, Wichita, Kan., banker and furniture magnate. Howse, had a fine, forthright record in the South Pacific. He helped expose graft and inefficiency in the air forces, and his operation of surplus property is equally honest. . . But he belongs to the old big business school which would like to see the Sherman Anti-Trust Act at the bottom of the Potomac. . . along with Howse are numerous colonels he has recruited from Gen. B. B. Somervell's army of economic royalists to help run surplus property. Their idea is to get rid of war goods as fast as they can, no matter who gets them. . . to some extent this is necessary. . . on the other hand, Congress set up an excellent set of principles in the surplus property act by which small business is not to be left out in the cold, while veterans, schools, universities and municipalities get first crack at the vast grab-bag of left-over war goods.

Civil war over the Aluminum corporation is the best illustration of the big business vs. little business row inside surplus property. . . the big business group was ready to let Alcoa buy some of the best machine tools in the country, now government-owned and loaned to Alcoa for war production. . . this question of Alcoa's monopoly has raged bitterly ever since Andrew Mellon, father of the giant company, was secretary of the treasury, with an anti-trust case against Alcoa hanging fire in the courts for twelve years. . . same battle continued between Jesse Jones and Secretary Ickes regarding the new aluminum plants built during the war, which Ickes feared would increase Alcoa's monopoly. . . despite all this, the big business group inside surplus property was quite willing to let Alcoa keep the valuable government-owned machine tools, thus increase its grip on aluminum.

Attorney General Biddle finally stepped into the Alcoa battle and threw his weight behind little-business-defender Sturges. Biddle reminded the board that Congress, in setting up the surplus property board had ruled against any concern which the attorney general considered a monopoly. Alcoa, said Biddle, was exactly that. . . this seemed to be conclusive. . . but another backstage fight followed. . . some board members objected to naming Alcoa by name in the order withholding its machine tools. They won their point. The final order merely referred to companies making aluminum and alumina. . . day after this order was issued—June 7—the board held a secret session and adopted regulations by which little-business-protector Sturges was barred from further meetings. . . Sturges was not present to object. . . Then the board wrote up its minutes making it appear that he was present. . . Sturges, however, has registered a protest, making it clear that he did not consent in barring himself from board meetings.

Adding fuel to the flames meanwhile is the appointment of Monopolist W. Stuart Symington of St. Louis to be surplus property chairman. . . Not only has he been cited by a federal judge for violating the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, but some interesting letters written by him, have now turned up. . . Symington believed in writing letters, also believed in destroying them. However, here is one which wasn't destroyed. . . writing to an associate regarding his plans to monopolize the parking meter business by "establishing sales prices and methods," the new surplus property chairman wrote:

"Perhaps you are a little too definite in point 4, when you state 'to establish sales prices and methods?' This is the kind of statement Broussard might use in wrong fashion because of his ignorance of the great importance of masking the vehicular development. Kindly destroy this letter."—All of which leads some senators to wonder what chance little business will have under the new surplus property chairman.

The Tokyo radio reported a complete shake-up of the Jap munitions staff. Eventually we'll report a complete blow-up of the munitions.

The house shortage has convinced plenty of people that there really is no place like home.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Peltier was Miss Mary Jane Menard, daughter of Mrs. Clara Menard, 325 South Eleventh street. Pfc. Peltier is a veteran of Bougainville, Guam and Iwo Jima, and was awarded the Purple Heart.

At a double ring ceremony performed June 9 at Holy Family church, at Flat Rock, Miss Mary Jean Menard, daughter of Mrs. Clara Menard, 325 South Eleventh street, became the bride of Pfc. William Peltier, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Peltier of Bark River. The marriage was performed by the Rev. Fr. M. H. Lavolette.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Paul Jolicœur. She was attended by Miss Anna Mae Peltier, sister of the bridegroom, who was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mary Jean Peltier, sister of the bride, and Miss Elaine Menard and Miss Lorraine Jolicœur. Andrew Menard was the best man, and Warner Peltier and Melvin Teal were the ushers.

The bride wore a gown of white lace over satin, with full train. Her veil, edged in matching lace, was gathered in a queen crown of rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of carnations, lilies, roses and sweetpeas. Anna Mae Peltier, the maid of honor, wore pink lace over satin. Mary Jean Peltier wore blue lace over satin; Lorraine Jolicœur, pink net over satin, and Elaine Menard, blue net over satin. The attendants all wore matching headresses, and carried bouquets of roses, snapdragons and sweetpeas.

Mrs. Menard, mother of the bride, wore a dress of flowered blue, with matching accessories, and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Peltier chose a light blue suit with gold accessories, and wore roses also.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother. A dinner for 45 guests was served later at Belle's Coffee shop.

Pfc. Peltier recently returned from the South Pacific after two and one-half years of foreign service. He enlisted in the Marines in July, 1942, and took part in the invasions of Bougainville, Guam and Iwo Jima. He was wounded on Guam and received the Purple Heart. He will report to the U. S. Naval drydock at San Francisco. The bride has been employed in Detroit.

Tricks 'Change' Shape Of Nose

The nose that strays from the path of beauty in length or size causes a lot of girls to ask "what to do?"

So what-to-do to snip off apparent length would be to wear a bang, kept level with eyebrows and to avoid a center hairpart. Pitfalls of dress to be shunned like the plague are pointed necklines and hats that come forward into any kind of peak.

To make a bulbous nose look smaller, you can use two shades of powder, applying the darker tone to the sides to reduce apparent width. Building your hair out from the brow with a pouf of soft curls and creating an opposing line at the back of your head with a chignon or a braid, looped up and tied peruke-fashion, are other tricks for minimizing the size of a nose. Wear hats with trick brims run out from the brow.

Gimmicks that will always focus attention away from a nose that you don't like are eye makeup and bright lipstick—using the latter to make your lips wide rather than full.

Complete Destruction Of Japanese Homeland Aim Of U.S. Air Forces

By RICHARD O'MALLEY
Guam, (AP)—The American bomb load dumped on Japan will reach the rate of 2,000,000 tons a year by July 1, Gen. H. H. Arnold announced just as 520 superfortresses were striding 3,000 tons of incendiaries on industrial Osaka and Amagasaki in a first anniversary raid.

Arnold, chief of the U. S. Army Air Forces, personally disclosed the heavy Osaka raid in a dramatic press conference in which he detailed his program for "complete and utter destruction" of the enemy homeland by air.

The gigantic desolation already wrought in Japan by a series of superfortress raids, that have totalled about 75,000 tons since November, will be as nothing compared with the devastation the enemy may expect to start within hardly more than two weeks, Arnold made clear.

The scheduled 2,000,000 annual bomb tonnage would average 5,480 tons each day, and the five-star commander of the air forces grimly declared.

"Starting July 1, we are going to drop 1,700,000,000 tons and forces of General George C. Kenney (commander of the Far Eastern Air Forces) 300,000 tons.

(Arnold did not specify what he meant by "we." Presumably he referred to the B-29s of the 21st bomber command, the 7th Army Air Force and the 8th which is on the way to the theater).

"If that is what Japan wants, by God that is what she is going to get."

Here on his first visit to the Marianas area and the 21st Bomber Command, Arnold disclosed that the program for Japan was the same as for Germany—Aerial destruction of her industries, with the aid of Japanese-acquainted target-evaluators.

Differences, as he pointed out, are that the Japanese industry is concentrated in a smaller area, but is more dispersed among homes and small plants.

"You know what will be left of the area from Tokyo to Nagasaki, which is all of Japan that counts industrially."

He disclosed that the May bomb tonnage on Japan was 24,000, and dwelt on the reason for the "complete and utter destruction" program.

"Japan has a thousand small targets in backyard workshops and homes," he explained.

"Suicide planes are cheap and can be made in a back yard. That is why we went into the destruction program to defeat Japan. It is necessary to destroy five key cities (Tokyo, Nagoya, Yokohama, Kobe and Osaka.) It is going to be a terrible place to live in."

Already the B-29s, recently augmented in numbers by Superfortresses from the China-India-Burma theater, have blotted out more than 100 square miles of those five cities, hitting both large industries and "hidden" home factories.

Col. Alfred F. Klaber, a veteran of 20 missions over Japan, estimated recently that perhaps as many as 1,500,000 persons have been killed in Tokyo alone. He believed 250,000 were killed at Yokohama.

General Arnold said the bomb tonnage dropped on Japan jumped from 725 tons in November, 1944 to 24,000 last month.

He listed these totals: November 725; December 1,700; January, this year, 1,600; February 4,000; March 14,000; April 16,000; May 24,000.

Bomb tonnages announced this month for three raids exceed 9,000 with the tonnages for two other large attacks not specified. That would make the total tonnage dropped from Marianas-based B-29s easily exceed 70,000 tons.

General Arnold pointed to the successes achieved in bombing Germany's gasoline and oil sources and said "this is why Germany was whipped."

In the end, Germany did not have gasoline to use for training planes and was sending up pilots with 40 to 45 hours training.

"We believe it is possible to do to Japan the same thing we did to Germany."

"We have established the same type of target evaluating group in the war against Japan," he continued.

"People who have lived and worked with the Japanese assist us in selecting targets. We use them to tell us what to bomb."

CONVICT ELUDES POLICE SEARCH

Thought To Be Hiding In Woods Not Far From Marquette

State police, county sheriff's officers and police officers of Gladstone and Escanaba are still on the lookout for Frank Dalton, 54, prison trusty who walked away from the honor farm near Harvey last Monday night but thus far only slight leads have been obtained and a checkup of those have proved fruitless.

It is theorized that Dalton is probably in the woods not far from Marquette. He was working as a cook at the honor farm and took with him sufficient food for 5 days to a week, it is estimated.

The only definite trace of Dalton was gained several days ago when youths saw a man who answered his description on a county highway south of Marquette. The man ran but dropped a fish pole as he departed. Authorities were notified but no further trace of him could be obtained and he could not be located.

The fish pole was positively identified as one taken from the farm.

It was the third time that Dalton had made his escape from Michigan prisons. His first escape was from the state prison at Jackson in 1916.

Search For Iron
Ore In Peninsula

Lansing—State and federal geologists are to press an intensified search for iron ore deposits in the Iron River-Stambaugh, and Crystal Falls-Alpha districts of Iron county.

The conservation commission has approved a $23,000 contribution for the purpose, to be supplemented by U. S. Geological Survey funds. The state's contribution was $5,000 for 1944-45, and the federal agency spent $38,000. The increased appropriation also will permit resumption of the geological mapping of Dickinson county.

Discovery of new ore bodies in the region is declared vital to its future welfare in replacing deposits that have been exhausted by abnormal wartime demands.

Miss Jeanette Leroux left Sunday morning for Jackson, Mich.

Submarine Base, Western Pacific (AP)—Henry Jaye, motor machinist, is known among his submarine mates as "the character of our boat" because of such lines as, "The first thing I'm going to do when this war is over is buy a dozen zoot suits."

Jaye, who has a first class rating, probably wouldn't be seen in the same block with a zoot suit and the lad from Dorchester, Mass., can be serious.

Apelgren Gets Mail

He'd just started to tell about his postwar planning, when Harold Apelgren, Motor Machinist Mate, First Class of 602 Montanista Avenue, Gladstone, Mich., walked into a Quonset hut where the submarine crewmen were lounging ashore.

Apelgren had an armload of mail, including one letter telling about his son born only a few weeks ago. A grand scramble halted all conversation as the men grabbed the letters from home.

"Tell them at home that this is the best part of our life," grinned Roy C. Riser, Chief Machinist Mate, of McKeesport, Pa., as he joined the crowd milling about Apelgren.

They'd just finished collecting their mail, some to read it immediately, others to hold it unopened for a more leisurely moment, when another visitor arrived.

"Hiya, Glenn," shouted several of the group to a young officer who opened the door. It was Lt. (j. g.) Glenn Ellis, of Florida, Ill., who only recently had been commissioned. Several in the group had served with him when he was a chief.

The conversation immediately turned to an "Athletic Tourna-

Average German Blames Dachau Affair On Nazis

The reaction of the average German, even those living in the very towns of Dachau and Buchenwald, to the atrocities and horrors of the concentration camps, is one of denial of knowledge of conditions in the camps; of insistence that he is not a Nazi and therefore not culpable. So reports foreign correspondent Patricia Lochridge direct from Germany in the current issue of Woman's Home Companion.

She says "Every German I talk with, not only at Dachau but at Buchenwald, Ohrdruf and Belsen, disclaims all knowledge of or responsibility for the camps. Even the women of Dachau still excuse or evade responsibility for the atrocious camp horrors that made their home town infamous."

In Dachau, Correspondent Lochridge talked with some of the townspeople after a number had been selected to make a tour of the camp. Here are a few of the answers: Said Dr. Robert Koschade, the city's leading physician "This business at the camp was none of our affair. I don't want to talk about it." Dr. Koschade expressed horror at the sights in the camp says Miss Lochridge, but had "no personal sense of guilt." He was "not a Nazi and therefore not culpable."

"Let's not talk about it," also said Johann Felner, master baker of Dachau. But even after the Americans had liberated the concentration camp neither Herr Felner nor any other individual or civic organization expressed the slightest concern about the pitiful plight of the prisoners. "No voluntary offers of food, clothing or medical aid had been made even to their own people. The common citizens and the town of Dachau were completely indifferent," says Miss Lochridge.

Official barber for the SS troops at Dachau, Edward Schmidt, had this to say: "You Americans are such sentimentalists. The prisoners there are nothing but human swine. It is better that they die."

"We understood a little, but it was dangerous to know too much. A man must live himself," was the observation of high-school teacher Robert Liebel to Patricia Lochridge.

Many of the women of Dachau did not want to answer the Companion's correspondent—if any their's was a hurried reply: "We never knew there were children there. We want to see for ourselves. We had heard such horrors were committed by the Russians. How could such cruelties be done by Germans on our own people? My son is a storm trooper but he could never have done such acts."

But said Frau Lina Ridel, a matronly "The state put them there. They weren't good Germans. Most of them weren't Aryan."

If the German people aren't guilty for these atrocities, as they tell Miss Lochridge they are not, who then is guilty she asks. "The camps weren't buried in underground caverns of a few great cities; they weren't confined to remote districts of mountainous southern Germany; they weren't hidden away in the Black Forest or the Harz Mountains. The plain facts are that they existed in small towns throughout Germany. The rank and file of German civilians lived side by side with the camps and they did nothing about them."

Included in Miss Lochridge's visits was one to Mayor Edmund Suse at Dachau's town hall. Suse was newly liberated from the camp and newly appointed burgomaster by the military government. "I never believed until I was a prisoner," the burgomaster told the Companion's correspondent. "Now I am ashamed to be a German. The Nazis came to power and perpetrated these crimes because some Germans actively approved and because others were criminally passive. Now we must all pay," said Mayor Suse, "but the people don't understand this. They think the bad days are all over, but they have only begun."

"The sorrow for the prisoners at Dachau that should be felt by the average German is not there," reports Miss Lochridge. "They are not affirmatively sorry for anything they've done in the past thirteen years. They are simply sorry that they have lost this war."

STUDIO BLOCK

Dr. C. F. Anderson Buys Property In Deal Made Thursday

Dr. C. F. Anderson, local osteopath, became owner of the Brault Photo Studio block, housing the Brault Studio and the offices of the Western Union in a deal completed Thursday.

Dr. Anderson announces that the building will be subject to extensive remodeling and that he will use the studio part of the building for his office.

Mr. Brault, who for some time has planned on retiring from the photography business, states that he plans on disposing of it as soon as a satisfactory buyer may be found, and that should the business remain in his hands at the time set for vacating the premises he will set up a studio in another location until a buyer has been secured.

Mr. Brault has been in business here since 1905, coming here from Cumberland, Wis. For years he operated a studio in the building where the Brault bowling alleys are located, but when the alleys were increased to four in number, he purchased and moved into his present location. This was in 1940.

In addition to the studio and the Western Union offices, there are three upstairs apartments in the building.

GRASSHOPPERS
HELD IN CHECK

Wet And Chilly Weather Curls Spread Of Plant Insects

Washington—Persistent wet, chilly weather in the principal crop areas which has had farmers worried all spring, has been a blessing in dripping disguise in at least one way: grasshoppers and chinchbugs, the two worst insect enemies of growing grain crops, have been held well in check. Both these pests require warm, sunny weather for their full development, and they haven't been getting it. Only in the Southwest, where there has been hot drought, have the 'hoppers been bothersome.

Both grasshoppers and chinchbugs might raise trouble if dry, warm weather were to come now, surveys by entomologists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture indicate. Last year's swarms of grasshoppers matured rather late, but prolonged warm weather in autumn gave them opportunity to lay about the normal numbers of eggs in the soil. Also, there were unusual numbers of chinchbugs that went into hibernation. Thus far, the eggs remain largely unhatched and the bugs are still inactive, and as long as the weather stays cool the situation will remain "as is."

Diamond-Studded
Cutting Wheel
Saves Much Time

Washington — A diamond-imregnated cutting wheel, developed at the National Bureau of Standards here, simplifies and shortens the time required to cut plastic test specimens for tensile and tensile-shear determinations. It can be used satisfactorily with thermosetting plastics, thermoplastics containing a high proportion of glass or mineral filler, and unplasticized rigid thermoplastics such as styrene and methyl methacrylate resins.

The new method will prove of much value to industrial and other laboratories. Using special procedures developed at the Bureau, a good quality of cuts is obtained, and the method is rapid and inexpensive. Moreover, the wheel will not cut soft materials or the hand of the operator. It is made

OPA NOTING
MEAT FAMINE

Chamber Of Commerce Wire Gets Prompt Reply

The national headquarters of the Office of Price Administration has been appraised of the local shortage of meat and dairy products which threatens to curtail production in some of the local logging camps.

Thursday morning a sharply worded message was sent by the Manistique Chamber of Commerce to Congressman Bradley, Senators Vandenberg and Ferguson and the National OPA headquarters. Friday morning, Mauritz Carlson, secretary of the C. of C. received the following reply from Mr. Bradley:

"Re: meat situation in your locality is now being worked on by OPA. Will advise you when results are obtained."

See Many Lampreys
In Manistique River

Large numbers of lamprey, an eel-like fish regarded as a menace to commercial fishing, have been noted by men working on construction of the retaining wall at the dam on North Cedar street.

The fish, evidently spawning, gather in pools at the base of the spillway, and many of them have been scooped up from the river bottom.

Lamprey are considered a serious menace to commercial fishing because they prey upon the larger types of fish, particularly lake trout. While not large in size, they usually manage to attach themselves to the largest fish and drain their lifeblood.

The state conservation department has, for years, been conducting a campaign of extermination, trapping them when they swim up the river to spawn. These efforts have been only partially successful.

Social

Billy Holm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Holm, entertained several friends Thursday afternoon at his home on River street in honor of his eighth birthday anniversary.

Games were played during the afternoon and pictures were taken of the group. A delicious birthday cake centered the table. Billy received many lovely gifts.

Guests at the party included: Ricky and Larry Larson, Jimmy and Jackie Swartstrom, Eddie Leonard, Clifford Anderson, Mary and Boy Eakley, Gary Edgcomb, Chucky Fish and Carl Brockman.

Still Time To Plant a Garden
Says Hierman

You still have time to plant a garden and get quality vegetables by fall if you act immediately, says Joseph L. Hierman, county agent.

Latest reports indicate that there will be a definite shortage of canned food for the year 1945-46. This is not only true about fruits but vegetables as well. One way of being on the safe side is to produce some of the food you need yourself. The following vegetables can still be grown from seed: beans, beets, chard, carrots, kohlrabi, parsnips, spinach, turnips, and rutabagas. There are still plants available at greenhouses such as tomatoes, cabbage, cauliflower and brussels sprouts. All of these plants can now be transplanted to the garden where good results can be expected if given proper care and plant food.

To emphasize the need for growing some of your own food, here are some facts submitted by the War Food Administration:

1. There will be 25 to 40 per cent less corn, beans and tomatoes allocated to civilians from the 1945 crop as compared to 1944.

2. Per capita consumption of vegetables will have to drop from 38 pounds in 1943 to 28 pounds in 1945 unless more families produce their own.

3. The supply of canned tomatoes is one-half of what it was a year ago. Cold weather this spring has slowed up planting in some of the states where the largest acreage is grown.

4. Garden seed sales are down about 25 per cent compared to 1944 for both home gardens and commercial gardens.

5. Labor for commercial gardens is becoming more acute.

In these days of distressing scarcity of many types of accustomed foods, many a housewife has been moved to remark, "What in the world would we do if we didn't have plenty of milk?" LOCAL HARBOR

Congressman F. Bradley
Makes Request To Committee

Improved harbor facilities at Manistique are sought in a request recently made by Congressman Fred Bradley to the House Rivers and Harbors committee, that the harbor be deepened and generally enlarged.

In his message to the committee he asks that the report submitted in 1934 by army engineers denying the need for deepening and enlargement be reconsidered.

His message to the Press concerning the matter, follows:

"I have requested House Rivers and Harbors committee to authorize a review of the unfavorable report submitted by the army engineers in 1934 against the complete dredging, deepening and enlarging of your harbor facilities. It is my belief that in looking toward the postwar world you will need greatly increased facilities in your harbor to provide you with adequate depth and dockage to permit not only increased and safer car ferry operations, but also to enable your citizens and industries to participate in the lake freight and passenger business."

"I confidently expect my request will be acted upon and a review authorized before our expected recess. I intend to make a personal inspection of your harbor facilities and proposed improvements during the recess."

willing to assist are asked to notify Carl Olson, phone 226-J, and to bring their own hammer, saw, and lunch.

ATTACK IN 7TH NIPS YANKS, 4-3

Philadelphia, June 16 (AP)—Knocking out Hank Borowy with a two-run attack in the seventh inning, the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the New York Yankees 4 to 3 before 23,396 here tonight.

The tying run came home when Hal Peck doubled behind a walk to George Kell with two out, after Borowy purposely passed Dick Siebert. Bobby Estallella drove him to cover with a single that scored Peck.

Shown By Robinson

New York, June 15 (AP)—Ray "Sugar" Robinson replied to criticism that he is "slipping" by knocking out Jimmy McDaniels tonight in the second round of a scheduled ten round bout in Madison Square Garden.

The "uncrowned welterweight champion" who did not look so good in his last two fights against Jake Lamotta and Jose Basora, put his Los Angeles opponent down for the count in 1:23 of the second stanza after the bell had cheated him of a first round kayo.

A dynamite-laden left hook felled McDaniels like an ox for the knockout punch. The Californian fell face down in his corner and was still stretched full length as Referee Benny Leonard completed the count.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The Detroit Tigers have reason to cheer about the prospects of Hank Greenberg, now discharged from military service, returning to the Tiger lineup, even after an absence of four years from baseball. Principally because of excellent pitching, the Tigers are up front in the American League pennant race, but the Detroit team has been woefully weak at the plate. A slugger of the Greenberg caliber, even if only a reasonable facsimile of the Greenberg of pre-war days, would be a distinct help to the club in their pennant fight.

Presumably it will be a little time before Greenberg readjusts himself to major league baseball after a long absence. Greenberg is a hard worker, however, as proved by his diligence in making the successful switch from first base to the outfield after Rudy York joined the Tigers. His age, 34, is not too old to prevent a complete comeback to major league baseball. After mid-season Greenberg should be pummeling the apple with the old vigor of pre-war days.

Greenberg's $55,000 salary is assured him for at least 60 days following his return to baseball and by that time he probably will have proved that he has lost little of his baseball talent. The salary is not a major factor, anyway, as far as the Detroit club is concerned because Greenberg's box office appeal more than compensates for the prodigious figures on his paycheck.

It will be recalled that last year the Tigers didn't really become a major pennant threat until Dick Wakefield joined the club. Wakefield's potest bat, slamming base hits at the most opportune time pushed the Tigers into the thick of the race and it wasn't until the final day of the season that the Detroit club was relegated to runner-up honors, behind the St. Louis Browns. Wakefield is gone now returned to military service, but Hank Greenberg may well be the Wakefield of 1945.

Hit and Miss—The Portage Lake golf club has deeded its property to the Michigan College of Mining at Houghton and the course will be used by the college for physical training and recreational purposes. The course will still be available to residents of Houghton county on a membership basis, however. Coach George Ruwitch, now visiting in Wisconsin, will take over the harbor master duties here next week, relieving Bert Henne who plans a vacation in Detroit. Henne will take up the harbor master reins again in mid-August when Ruwitch calls for EHS football practice.

A trace of prepared mustard and finely chopped sour pickles added to highly seasoned mayonnaise gives a perfect spread for frankfurters and hamburgers.

Broken Arm Forces Snead To Withdraw From Detroit Event

Detroit, June 15 (AP)—Sam Snead, the Hot Springs, Va., slugger, withdrew today from the Philadelphia Inquirer Invitational golf tournament with a broken arm, forcing a substitution here in next week's exclusive "big fore" medal play event scheduled to open next Friday at Plum Hollow Golf Club.

Snead, who shot a 35-35-70 yesterday in the first round at Philadelphia with his wrist tightly taped, discovered today that a bone in his arm was broken. Physicians said Snead probably would be unable to play for a month. He injured the arm a week ago in a fall while running to second base in a softball game with caddies at Hot Springs.

David J. Griffith, Plum Hollow president and "big fore" tournament chairman, said he would get in touch with Sam Byrd, Plum Hollow pro and one of the original "big fore" principals, and try to arrange a substitution to replace Snead here.

Snead was to have played in the 72-hole Detroit event with Byrd, Byron Nelson and Harold (Jug) McSpaden.

Griffith said "we'll have a 'name' player in Snead's place—maybe the winner of the Philadelphia tourney, providing it isn't Nelson, McSpaden or Byrd."

Proceeds from the "big fore" three-day show are earmarked for a golf fund for returning servicemen at Percy Jones hospital, Battle Creek, Mich.

DETROIT RACING REOPENS TODAY

Detroit, June 15 (AP)—Eighteen sprinters were named today to start in the $10,000 Boots and Saddie handicap, six-furlong feature race of Saturday's opening day card at the Detroit fair grounds.

Top-weighted in the big race opening Detroit's 85-day summer meeting is Amber Light, fast starting Charles T. Fisher veteran. Amber Light is slated to carry 116 pounds, two more than the highly regarded Night Crawler and four more than Bring Me Home. The race is for three-year-olds and upward.

Hi Neighbor from the Bomar stable drew top weight of 116 pounds in the $7,000 Man O'War handicap at a mile and one-sixteenth. Secondary Feature which attracted such fast steppers as Wise Moss, Day Dodger and Goobar Lad.

Ten two-year-olds were named to go after the $5,000 inaugural purse for juveniles at 4½ furlongs.

The Detroit meeting, as usual, will feature twilight racing during the week with first post at 4:30 p. m. (EWT) except Saturdays and holidays, when the first race is scheduled for 2:15 p. m.

RAIN CANCELS RACES

Northville, Mich., June 15 (AP)—The entire Friday harness racing card at Northville Downs was cancelled today as a result of a downpour of rain that washed out all except the first race of Thursday night's program. The meeting was expected to be resumed Saturday night.

Greenberg Rejoins Tigers Next Tuesday

Detroit, June 15 (AP)—Hank Greenberg, slugging first baseman-outfielder who belted 249 home runs and batted .325 over a nine-year stretch while pacing the Detroit Tigers to three American League pennants, is expected to rejoin the Tigers next Tuesday and may be in the lineup by July 1, General Manager Jack Zeller said today.

The 34-year-old Greenberg, discharged from the army this week after four years in service during which he rose to the rank of captain, notified Zeller that he will reach Detroit early next week to start his baseball comeback.

"Although Hank has been out of baseball since early in 1941 I figure he will require only ten days to two weeks to regain his timing at bat," Zeller declared. "I know for a fact he's in good physical condition."

Greenberg will come here from New York, where he is visiting his mother following his discharge Thursday at Fort Dix, N. J.

Nova Scores Kayo Over Undeclared Farm Boy Fenske

Detroit, June 15 (AP)—Lou Nova, veteran heavyweight from Las Vegas, Nev., kayowed Howard Fenske, previously undeclared farm boy from Grand Rapids, Mich., tonight in the ninth round of their scheduled 10-round fight at Olympia here tonight. Nova weighed 201, Fenske 178½.

Nova, using his 22½-pound drag in the weights to advantage, badly outlasted Fenske with a barrage of body punches and cut the Grand Rapids youth's left eye before uncorking his knockout punch in the ninth—a right uppercut that caught Fenske flush on the chin.

Fenske carried the fight to the Yogi man for only the first two rounds. Nova's inside fighting slowed Fenske after that and he barely weathered the eighth. The knockout came in a matter of seconds after the ninth round opened. A crowd of 6,005 fans paid into a gross take of $15,118.42.

Rain Stops Tigers At Comiskey Park, Aids Mound Staff

Chicago, June 16 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox have tried four times this season to get together at Comiskey Park but the weatherman has come between them on every occasion.

Tonight's opener of a six-game series was postponed because of rain, cutting the Tiger stay here to five games, two Saturday, two Sunday and one Monday night.

The washout gave Detroit a chance to throw a double dose of lefthand pitching against the Sox in tomorrow's twin bill, sending Hal Newhouse (8-4) and Frank (Stubby) Overmire (4-2) out for the starting assignments against Johnny Humphries and Buck Ross.

The day of idleness failed to deprive the Tigers of the American League lead today despite the ever-present threat of the second place New York Yankees.

Homecoming Party Of Browns Spoiled By Indians, 5 to 2

St. Louis, June 15 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians spoiled the St. Louis Browns' homecoming party by whipping the league champions 5 to 2 in the opener of a four-game series tonight.

Lou Boudreau, Cleveland player-manager, homered into the left field bleachers with one on and two out in the fourth. In the sixth Don Ross singled with the bases loaded, bringing in two teammates, Boudreau stopping at third. On an attempted double steal, Ross was out and the Indians retired. In the ninth Cleveland tallied again.

Frenchy Bordagaray's pinch single with the bases loaded in the seventh scored two runs to tie up a see-saw game at 6-6 and the Brooks tallied three more in the eighth on a triple by Goody Rosen, a double by Howie Schultz and singles by Clyde King and Dixie Walker.

A fluke double by Al Libke in the first inning spoiled an otherwise perfect game for Vanderberg.

Chicago scored in the first inning of the second game on a walk and a triple, and added another in the second as Harry Lowrey scored from third on Steve Mesner's wild throw to Bucky Walters who was covering home. They got another in the eighth on an error, a walk and Andy Pafko's single.

Hines Shaves Par Again At Llanerch

BY HAROLD CLAASSEN
Philadelphia, June 15 (AP)—Blond Jimmy Hines of Chicago, shaved three more strokes off Llanerch Country Club's par with a 67 today to reach the half-way mark in the Philadelphia Inquirer's $17,500 invitation golf meet with an aggregate of 133 and a two-stroke lead.

Johnny Bulla, Atlanta airplane pilot, kept within two blows of the leader by duplicating Hines' card but Byron Nelson of Toledo, golf's mechanical man, dropped one stroke off the pace by blowing a six-foot putt on the final green for a 68.

Bulla has 135 and Nelson 136 for the first 36 holes of the tournament played for the benefit of the Pro Golfers' Rehabilitation Fund. Tomorrow only the low 60 par and 10 leading amateurs will continue.

Best round of the day was turned in by Harold (Jug) McSpaden, whose age has never abated enough to permit him to score a 66, a figure that equaled Hines' effort of yesterday and tied the course record for the second straight day. He has 139 for the two days.

Sam Byrd, Detroit pro defending his title, found plenty of difficulty on the back nine and added a 72 to his 71 of the first round. Ed Furgol, Detroit war worker, leads the amateurs with a 69-73-142.

Half-Game Edge Kept By Pirates

Pittsburgh, June 15 (AP)—The league leading Pittsburgh Pirates held their half-game edge tonight with a 5 to 2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals before 24,315 fans. Bob Elliott's homer in the sixth put the game on ice for the Pirates.

Elliott's long drive over the left field fence on the first pitched ball broke a 2-2 deadlock. He also collected two singles.

Miller, who has been working in a Dallas, Texas, war plant, was with the Tigers part of last season. Welch so far this season has caught in only one game.

7th WAR LOAN

The Biggest Drive in America's History

Why YOU . . . everybody . . . must do more than ever before

IN ALL theaters of war more than eleven million of our fighting men must be fed, clothed, sheltered, armed. And the medical needs are at a staggering, all-time high.

In the Pacific, as our fighting forces push on toward Tokyo, the demand for more and more supplies becomes greater.

That means all America must pour out its might in the MIGHTY 7th WAR LOAN.

By this time last year you were twice called upon to buy extra War Bonds. This is the first time your country has called upon you in 1945. That's why this is really two great war loans in one. The Marines didn't count the cost at Iwo. We can't count the cost at home.

Study the chart at the left. See what your country expects you to do in the 7th War Loan. Remember, you are part of America—a part of America's might! Pour out your might in the mighty 7th War Loan . . . for yourself . . . for your country . . . for Victory!

OPEN SWIMMING BEACH MONDAY

Miss Ethel Bennett Will Be Swimming Coach This Summer

The Escanaba bathing beach at Ludington park officially will open Monday morning at 9 o'clock for the summer season, and a swimming instructor has been hired to take charge of classes there, it was announced yesterday by Zania Rivers, acting director of the city recreation department.

The instructor is Miss Ethel Bennett, physical education teacher at St. Peter (Minn.) Junior high school since 1926. She has been active in Girl Scout leadership, and was instructor at a girls' camp in California for several summer seasons. She has conducted swimming classes since 1930, and is an excellent swimmer herself. Miss Bennett is now in Escanaba and yesterday was interviewed by City Manager A. V. Aronson.

A schedule of swimming instruction classes will be worked out and will be announced soon. More attention will be devoted to younger children, and it is expected that Miss Bennett will take charge of their instruction while Miss Naomi Vinette will instruct older children as she did last year. Miss Vinette and John Ferarri will be full-time lifeguards at the beach, and Doris Costley and Lois Ashinger will be employed part time.

Hours the beach will be open for swimming with life guards present are as follows:

9 to 12 a. m. each day except Sunday morning; 2 to 5:30 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. every day.

The number of hours the beach will be guarded has been slightly reduced because of the limited number of life guards available. Besides the special attention to be paid youngsters in swimming instruction, an effort will be made in the summer beach program to work toward a water carnival as a climax, it was announced.

City playgrounds also will open Monday but the list of directors has not yet been completed. The playgrounds will be open from 12:30 to 9 p. m. five days each week. A program of arts and crafts classes, games, and other events are scheduled for the season.

Trenary Woman Taken by Death

Mrs. Tilda Aho, 50, of Trenary, died at 12:10 p. m. yesterday at St. Francis hospital after being admitted to the hospital less than an hour. Her death followed a brief illness.

Born Sept. 22, 1894, in Kurikko, Finland, Mrs. Aho had been a resident of this country for many years. She lived in Trenary for 12 years, and prior to that was a resident of Negaunee for 20 years.

Surviving are her husband, Vaino; two sons, Arnold at home, and Toivo in Chicago; two daughters, Lena Koski and Sylvia Werntanen, Chicago; a sister, Mrs. Lena Jussila of Trenary, and a brother and sister in Finland. Four grandchildren also survive.

The body was taken to the Anderson funeral home in preparation for burial. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Swedish Lutheran church in Trenary, and the body will lie in state from 1 o'clock to the funeral home.

T/5 Noel Derouin Wounded In Action

T/5 Noel T. Derouin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mose Derouin, of Bark River, Route 2, was slightly injured in action on Okinawa April 26, his parents have been advised by the war department.

Derouin is 27 years old and has been in service more than three years. He went overseas last fall.

Latin-America can absorb $10 billion worth of new and used machinery in the first ten years of peace, the U. S. Office of Coordinator of Inter-American affairs estimates.

Lt. (jg) E. J. Holderman, 916 Seventh ave. S., Escanaba, and WAVE Specialist (S) Muriel Stone, on location during filming of "Battle of Supply" near Santa Barbara, Cal. (Official U. S. Navy Photo.)

Lt. Holderman Plays In Navy Movie Short

By taking a part in the Pathe News-produced movie, "Battle of Supply," Lt. (jg) E. J. Holderman, 916 Seventh avenue south, Escanaba, has helped the navy tell the story of a hitherto top secret in amphibious warfare.

This short feature just released by the navy for civilian use bares for the first time some of the training activities that have made possible the wresting of dozens of Jap-held islands and their ultimate operation by United States task forces.

It also tells the story of the vast production problems in logistics and supplies faced by the United States Navy.

The picture was directed and supervised by Harry W. Smith, for several decades recognized as a leading news and feature cameraman. His rise to prominence began by filming "The Perils of Pauline," during the silent picture era.

The entire cast of actors for "Battle of Supply" was obtained from the roster of officers, WAVES and enlisted men at the Acorn Assembly and Training Detachment at Port Hueneme, Calif.

Trapping Of Sea Lampreys Success

Lansing—Trapping of sea lampreys in a weir on the Ocqueoc river in Presque Isle county is getting results.

A section of the stream above the weir has been cruised by conservation department institute for fisheries research workers and not more than 15 spawning lampreys were seen. Hundreds of sea lampreys were noted in the same section of stream in May 1944, first season the weir was in operation.

A total of 3,580 lampreys has been trapped in recent weeks. Last season's total take was 3,366.

One-Hour Parking Limit Resumed On Ludington Street

The one-hour parking limit on Ludington street from Seventh street to Twelfth street is being resumed and will be strictly enforced, Police Chief Michael Ettenhofer announced yesterday.

For the past couple years the parking limit has not been enforced because of the wartime decrease in traffic. Now traffic is increasing and because of the congestion in the business district the parking limit law must be observed.

Escanaba Soldier Writes Of Horror Camps In Germany

Cpl. Edward N. Legault, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Legault of 328 South Eighth street, has written, expressing his horror and disgust at conditions he saw in German torture camps. The letter was addressed to his wife, the former Margaret Rouse of Marinette.

Cpl. Legault was with a mortar battalion of the Third Army and is now attached to the Allied Military government located at Titting, near Passau, Bavaria, Germany.

"Our commanding officer was in charge here when the mass grave of 800 slave laborers was found," he wrote.

"So far they have been dug up and individual coffins are being made and graves dug. It was out there yesterday and it wasn't pleasant to see. But I had to see it to make sure—seeing is believing." The bodies had been there since some time in April, he said in his letter dated May 18.

"The mass grave," he said, "was below a bank which sloped from a railroad spur. They must have hauled the victims in box cars, killed them and threw them from the bank into the pit, as one could see the bank was worn where they rolled down into the pit. Terror and horror were written on their faces, and the bodies were so emaciated some were just skin and bones."

"Many bodies were mutilated and most were beaten. Most of them were men, and a few women and young boys. I saw but two bodies with shoes on—most were naked."

"German soldiers were made to dig up the victims with their bare hands, so as not to mutilate the bodies any more than they were."

I guess that made them realize how terrible they are in our eyes," Legault wrote.

"How supposedly civilized people could sink to such a low level is beyond me. I know this is all hard to believe, but it is true—I saw it with my own eyes."
